

BOARD ELECTS SCHOOL NURSE; SPECIAL CLASS

Students in the Upper Adams County Joint School district are going to have religious education, special education and nursing service the joint board decided.

Meeting Friday night at Biglerville high school the board elected Wilda MacBeth as school nurse and will elect another if the state legislature adopts a proposal to give reimbursement for two nurses.

They decided to have a special education class and directed Supervising Principal Leslie V. Stock to interview applicants for the position.

Board members pointed out that there are a number of students in the district who are above or below average in intelligence. "These students are not given the advantages they should have under the ordinary school system," one member said. "Some of the youngsters might be excellent as carpenters or artists, or musicians, but just can't get the instruction given in mathematics, or other subjects. And then there are some brilliant youngsters who can loaf through their classes, because the classes are designed for the average, and they pass with high marks and don't get as much out of school as they should."

"Opportunity Class"
As a result the board voted to have an "opportunity class." Where the class will be held will be decided after a census is taken of the students. If there is room at Arendtsville the class will be held there. If there is no room available a temporary building will be erected. Only one class will be started this year.

Favor Religion Class
Religious education should also be given in the joint district schools, the board members decided.

Professor Stock explained: "I'm as much in favor of religious education as you are. In fact I'm chairman of the committee for religious education in this section. But the whole thing really is up to the minister or the Sunday schools. Under state law our teachers can not teach religion in the schools. We give school time for classes in religious instruction. Each parent must agree that his child is to have the instruction and if a parent forbids such instruction then we have to have a program for the youngsters who are not attending the religious classes."

"The big problem so far has been to obtain someone to teach the classes. In some sections the preachers teach and it works out very well. In others the Sunday schools pay someone to teach the classes, which also works out well. I hope the minister will be able to do this."

BONNEAUVILLE RESIDENT WEDS

The latter wore a white satin and net gown with princess bodice, high neckline, long, pointed sleeves and train, with a fingertip veil and crown of shells, and carried pink and white roses and a pearl rosary, the gift of the groom.

Her sister wore a light blue satin and net gown also in the princess style, with short veil, and carried a bouquet of mixed flowers.

The Turnpike Commission is now empowered to extend the "dream" road from its eastern terminus near Carlisle to Philadelphia.

EAGLES DEFER ACTION ON NEW PLAY PROGRAM

A special committee appointed several weeks ago by Gettysburg Aerie No. 1562, Fraternal Order of Eagles, to investigate and report on a proposed new recreational program for the town, was reappointed at Friday night's meeting of the lodge, but no action was taken toward the appropriation of funds to finance the new program.

Two weeks ago the committee, after attending several meetings and reporting its findings, was discharged, with the thanks of the organization. At Friday night's meeting, the proposal was again brought up and discussed. The consensus of opinion was that the aerie would like to know more of the plan and its organizational setup before appropriating money for it, but the door was left open for future consideration of a donation.

Committee Appointed
Members of the committee appointed Friday night by Retiring President C. David McCullough to meet with the recreation program committee if and when requested are Carleton H. Poole, Mervin Crouse and Horace Bender.

Other business transacted by the lodge Friday night included the donation of $50 to the Gettysburg Fire company, and the installation of new officers. It was also voted to hold meetings once a month during June, July, August and September, with the next meeting scheduled for July 11.

The following officers for the ensuing year were installed by District Deputy Bernard Selby of Littlestown: president, Albert Hawn; vice president, Lester Oiler; past president, C. David McCullough; conductor, Francis Stevens; chaplain, Hersh Lauver; inside guard, Harry Pfeffer; outside guard, Emory Strausbaugh; secretary, John Storm; trustee, for three years, Jacob Wright. The term of Secretary James B. Aumen did not expire this year.

The next meeting of the auxiliary will be held September 5, in the form of a picnic for members and their families at National Museum park.

57 GUARDSMEN BRAVE RAIN ON 'LAST MISSION'

Fifty-seven members of the local State Guard unit Friday night met at the armory for their last meeting after four years of service to the community.

They came dressed in fatigues, raincoats and helmet liners to pick up their submachine guns, shotguns and other weapons; to make final adjustments to their armored cars, motorcycles and jeeps, and then headed into the rain for their final mission—an encampment at Harrisburg.

Today they will drive their armored cars through the streets of Harrisburg in the last parade of the State Guard, which goes out of existence today after four years of duty as the state's security force.

ENGAGE BUSES TO TRANSPORT STUDENTS HERE

The Fairfield, Liberty and Hamilton township school boards will jointly hire a bus to transport approximately 46 high school students from the three districts to Gettysburg high school beginning in September.

Meeting Friday evening at Fairfield, the three districts arranged their bus schedules for the coming year for high school students with the students divided between Washington Township high school and Gettysburg.

A bus driven by Leroy Sheads, Fairfield, will carry approximately 50 high school students from Hamilton and Liberty township to Washington township. The contract was let by the two boards jointly.

Ask For Bids
The bus driven by Fred T. Naugle, Orrtanna, will continue to carry 36 Hamilton township students to Gettysburg high school and bids are being asked for the third bus to transport students from all three districts to Gettysburg. The advertisement for the bids will appear in The Gettysburg Times Monday.

Under the plan outlined Friday night the Hamilton township high school students will ride in the elementary buses to the schools in that township. There they will be picked up by the bus and brought to Fairfield. At Fairfield the Liberty township and Fairfield high school children will be picked up by the bus which will then continue to Gettysburg. The Liberty students will be brought to Fairfield by the elementary buses of that township.

During its 40-mile-per-day trip the bus operated by the three districts to Gettysburg will pick up 20 Fairfield students, 16 Liberty township students and between 10 and 12 Hamilton township students.

Find Air Liner Wreckage On Mountain; 50 Are Lost

Leesburg, June 14 (AP)—The wreckage of a Capital Airlines plane carrying 50 persons was found today on top of Blue Ridge Mountain about 15 miles northwest of Leesburg.

James Franklin, director of maintenance for the airlines, who sighted the wreckage from a search plane said there appeared to be "no hope of anyone being alive" after the crash.

The plane disappeared in a rainstorm late yesterday shortly after making a routine radio contact with a station at Martinsburg, W. Va. It was bound from Chicago to Washington, D. C.

Franklin said that he had found the wreckage "just about exactly" where he had expected it to be. He said he had followed the pilot's radio messages and projected flight plan to reach the spot.

"Its position appeared to be directly on the course," he said. It was the third disastrous wreck of a DC-4 airliner in the last three weeks.

Franklin placed the scene of the disaster five miles directly west of the little mountain village of Hillsboro, Va., a few miles from the West Virginia state border.

Asked by reporters whether there was any sign of life, Franklin replied: "No. I don't see how there could be."

Franklin's plane was the only search craft that got into the air because of poor flying conditions. He took off from an airport at Winchester, Va., flew over the Blue Ridge, spotted the wrecked airliner and then proceeded to Leesburg.

Franklin said "it looks as though it (the plane) exploded and was torn all to pieces."

He said the wings were imbedded in the mountain top. The Blue Ridge rises to a height of approximately 1,600 feet from the Shenandoah Valley at that point. An air line beacon is located near the place where the plane crashed.

Search parties composed of volunteers, airlines employees, and Virginia police had hunted fruitlessly throughout the night for the missing plane.

Youths Discharge Shotgun In Home

Two Gettysburg youngsters, nine and 11 years old, had narrow escapes from death or serious injury Friday when one of the boys discharged a shotgun in the bathroom of a South Fifth street home. The charge went through the floor, according to borough police, who investigated.

"It is the old story of leaving firearms where children can get at them," Harpster said.

One of the boys took the shotgun, loaded it, and pulled the trigger. The mother of the boy in whose home the shooting occurred was away at the time and the boys were alone, Harpster said.

Relics Of Stevens' Day At Caledonia Restored

Caledonia State Park, officially recognized by Pennsylvanians as its No. 1 forest park and unofficially acclaimed by nature lovers and recreation seekers from near and afar as an unsurpassed "retreat" in this area from the hustle and bustle of modern life, may play host to more visitors this year than ever before in its history.

T. G. (Tom) Norris, of Fayetteville, R. D. 1, who supervises activities at Caledonia in conjunction with his duties as Michaux district forester, predicted today that if present trends continue throughout the remainder of the summer season the park will close its books this fall on its most successful season.

Mr. Norris' prediction should not be taken lightly, in view of Pennsylvania Department of Forests and Waters estimates that as high as 1,000,000 people have visited or passed through the nearby State park in single seasons in years past.

Completed Last Fall

Already a nature lover's paradise, Caledonia park has undergone improvements during the past year that will be pleasing not only to the

WORLEY LEADS OPPOSITION TO JUDGES' RAISE

Francis Worley, Adams county's representative in the General Assembly, took the floor in the House at Harrisburg Friday to voice opposition to a bill boosting judges' pay 18 to 20 per cent. The bill later was passed by a vote of 157 to 19.

He assailed the bill as a "lavish waste of public funds and a drain on the public treasury."

Representative Worley said the pay increase contributes to "a government by the people, of the politicians and for the big-shots."

After passage of the judges' pay bill, Representative Worley told newspapermen that, in his opinion, legislators are "the puppets of judges."

He Is An Attorney
Worley, an attorney, said he is not a member of the Pennsylvania Bar Association which sponsored the pay increase measure. He added, however, that he is a member of the American Bar Association.

Efforts to reduce the judicial salary increases to a flat 10 per cent failed when the bill was passed on second reading in the House Thursday after one and one-half hours of debate.

The bill was returned to the Senate for concurrence on House amendments correcting portions of the proposal, which would have given jurists only the amount of the increases, rather than the increases plus their present pay.

Presides Over House
This fumble in the bill was discovered in the House after the measure had passed the Senate. The bill was reportedly written by "legal lights" for the Bar Association.

Later the Senate approved the changes and sent the bill to Governor Duff.

During Friday night's busy session, Mr. Worley was called upon by Speaker Franklin H. Lichtenwalter to preside over the House during a brief absence of the speaker from the assembly chamber. It was the first time since Mr. Worley went to Harrisburg that he wielded the gavel as the House's presiding officer.

Miss Mellinger graduated from the Indiana State Teachers' college in May. While in college she was active in the YWCA, the Women's Sports club, and served as president of the Home Economics club the first semester of her senior year and as vice president of the vocational home economics fraternity. She did her practice teaching in the schools of Windber. Miss Mellinger has spent several days in New Oxford and vicinity with Mrs. Gotwalt visiting the girls who are working on summer projects in home economics.

The position of supervisor of vocal music remains to be filled. Mrs. Vesta Cook, who had charge of that work the second semester last term, asked to be released because of a throat condition. However, she will remain on the faculty as an English teacher.

With the exception of Mrs. Anna G. Bair, who consented to serve as a temporary teacher the second semester last year, all other faculty members have signified their intention of returning to their positions in September, Mechtly said.

A. P. Markel, a former member of the board of education, was appointed to replace R. Stoner Welty at the regular meeting of the board on Thursday evening.

Gettysburg Aerie No. 1562, Fraternal Order of Eagles, Friday night joined the list of contributors to the county-wide campaign to raise money for the Girl Scouts, by voting a contribution of $250.

REJECT BILL TO GIVE GROCERS BEER PERMITS

Harrisburg, June 14 (AP)—The Republican majority, at an early morning caucus lasting several hours, turned down today a proposal to license grocery stores for off-premise sales of beer.

The plan, included as an eleventh-hour amendment in a House-passed code of the state's liquor laws, later was sent back to committee—an action making enactment of the proposed code impossible at the 1947 session if present adjournment plans are carried out.

"There were a lot of good features in that bill," commented Sen. John H. Dent (D-Westmoreland), Senate minority leader, referring to a change in quantities of beer that may be sold and permission for appeals to the state Superior Court in liquor cases.

Opposed By Wets And Dries
The code which had a stormy career through the Legislature was sponsored by Reps. Elwood Turner (R-Delaware) and Harry O'Neill (D-Lackawanna). It passed the lower branch with a controversial provision for an 18-month moratorium for clubs from the state's liquor quota, later stricken out in the Senate.

Vigorously opposed by both wets and dries, the proposal for off-premise sales of beer would have permitted the licensing of food or food product stores doing at least $4,000 annually. Chain stores, however, would have been limited to one license in state.

At the same time, the House moved near a vote—possibly only if final adjournment is postponed beyond tonight—a separate Senate-approved bill to exempt only posts chartered by nationally recognized veterans' organizations from the quota law for an 18-month period starting September 1.

Sent To "Grave"
Other measures returned to committee and a legislative grave would have:

Allowed municipalities to collect sewer rentals for plans and construction before actually giving service.

Authorized development of plans for a state frequency-modulation radio network for non-commercial educational programs operated by the Department of Public Instruction.

Required compulsory revocation of the licenses of operators convicted of a second time of drunken driving.

Faces Murder Count For Slaying Woman

Shamokin, Pa., June 14 (AP)—District Attorney Harold A. Bonno said he was prepared today to file a charge of murder against Paul Sabo, 34, of nearby Bear Valley, in the slaying of one woman and wounding of another.

Bonno said Sabo would be charged with murder in the death of Margaret Zanders, his sister-in-law. He added another charge of aggravated assault with intent to kill would be filed against Sabo in the wounding of Mrs. Magdalene Zanders, 64, his mother-in-law, and mother of the dead woman.

The women were found yesterday at Mrs. Zanders' home here after Sabo walked into the state police barracks here, laid a gun on the desk and calmly told state policeman Warren Thoma, "I just shot two women," the officer reported. Thoma found the daughter dead with a bullet wound through the head and the mother in a critical condition with a bullet wound in the abdomen.

Change Name Of New Soft Drink Impost

Harrisburg, June 14 (AP)—Pennsylvania's new soft drink tax will be an excise levy as soon as Gov. James H. Duff approves a bill amending the 14-day old impost.

The measure was adopted 34-15 by the Senate last night only a little more than a week after it was proposed by the Republican majority in face of pending court litigation attacking the constitutionality of the new tax.

In addition to changing the tax's name, the measure would exempt sundaes syrup from the half-cent an ounce impost. The penny a 12-ounce bottle of soft drink was unchanged.

Brave Girl, 14, Ends Hunt For Rabid Dog

Pittsburgh, June 14 (AP)—Pretty Suzanne Weller, 14, was the talk of her neighborhood today after she collared a stray dog, believed rabid which bit at least 30 persons in the Beechview and Mt. Washington districts.

A half dozen radio cars and three animal rescue league trucks scoured the neighborhoods for the small black and white dog which terrorized children in three schools over a two-day period.

Meanwhile, Suzanne, one of 13 students at Lee school, Beechview, who were bitten or scratched ignored her own fears and scratches to grab the dog as it was racing from the building. She pushed it into an empty school room and slammed the door.

Police took over from there. They carried the animal away to test it for rabies. Brave Suzanne that evening played her violin in a concert given by the school orchestra.

Senate GOP Ranks Split On Taxes

Harrisburg, June 14 (AP)—A Democratic proposal to prohibit local taxes on coal and other natural resources split Senate Republican ranks wide open today as the ban was put into administration legislation to broaden the tax base of municipalities.

Offered by Sen. John H. Dent the Democratic floor leader, as the House-passed measure came up for final action in the upper branch. It was adopted first 23-22 and then when a new roll call was asked, by 27-20 votes. A final vote was slated later in the day.

Dent said the amendment would outlaw "severance taxes" on natural resources, explaining those were levies enacted on coal and other resources such as oil, timber and slate when removed from the ground or the woods.

FIRE DAMAGES HOME ON FRIDAY

The Gettysburg fire company was called Friday evening about 6:30 o'clock to a fire at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Clair A. Rebert, McKnightstown.

While members of the family had put out the blaze, which was confined to the kitchen of the house, the company examined the walls about the room to determine that no fire was still burning between the walls.

Mrs. Rebert said today that the fire was caused by an exploding oil stove. She was preparing the evening meal, she said, and had just walked away from the stove to pick up some potatoes ready for frying when the stove exploded. Her husband ran to the kitchen as the flames shot out from the stove and attempted to smother the blaze by using a rug. The wallpaper, window blinds and window frames caught fire, and assisted by Harold and Dorsey, Mr. and Mrs. Rebert threw water on the rapidly burning kitchen. Kitchen furniture was carried out of the room before the fire reached it. Clair Rebert was burned about the forehead while fighting the blaze.

Mrs. Rebert today said that the family the Gettysburg firemen arrived and praised the firemen's skill in determining that the fire was completely extinguished before leaving.

GERMAN REDS OPEN OFFENSIVE

By RICHARD KASISCHKE

Berlin, June 14 (AP)—Germany's communists—supported by Russian occupation authorities and inspired by aggressive communist tactics in Hungary and elsewhere in Europe—were embarked today on what an American official called a "summer offensive" of their own.

This offensive is being waged by the Soviet-sponsored, communist-dominated Socialist Unity Party (SED) with campaign headquarters in Berlin, where the representatives of Russian communism and western democracy are in constant contact as they attempt to give four-power administration to this city and to Germany.

The communists' principal objectives, as interpreted by responsible American officials are:

1. To regain full control of Berlin's city government—lost in a resounding election defeat last October—possibly by forcing an early new election.

2. To spread communist influence into the western zones of Germany, occupied by the U. S. and Britain, through an intensified propaganda attack on British-American policies.

3. To quicken enactment of their economic policies in the Russian zone of Germany, overriding such political resistance as still exists there.

In Berlin, American sources predicted, the communists might soon launch a campaign for a new election before the end of 1947.

Duff Gets Bill On Raise For Judges

Harrisburg, June 14 (AP)—Judicial salaries in Pennsylvania will be boosted an average of 17 to 20 per cent if Gov. James H. Duff approves legislation approved by both branches of the state legislature.

Passed 157-19, the measure would grant these increases for judges: Supreme court, chief justice, $20,000 to $23,500; associate justice, $19,000 to $23,000.

Superior court, president judge, $18,500 to $21,500; associate judges $23,000.

Common pleas judges in Philadelphia, $14,500 to $16,500; other counties above 100,000, $12,000 to $14,000; counties 65,000 to 100,000, $10,000 to $12,000; and less than 65,000, $9,000 to $11,000 a year.

Truman Keeps Mum On Tax, Labor Bills

Washington, June 14 (AP)—President Truman, back from his good will trip to Canada, kept mum today on whether he will slap the widely predicted veto on a bill to cut income taxes $4,000,000 a year.

He gave no inkling either of his intentions toward the less immediate problem of the Taft-Hartley labor bill, on which he is known to have received conflicting advice from his counselors.

Republican leaders in the House were so confident Mr. Truman will reject the tax measure—he has until Monday midnight to act—that they went ahead with plans for a vote Tuesday on a motion to override. This would be followed by a similar attempt a day later in the Senate, where changes for success are considered poor.

As for his decision on the labor bill, which he must approve, reject or permit to become law without his signature by Friday midnight, most members of Congress protested to be in the dark.

legislative wire early Friday.

A final Senate vote on the House-passed measure was made possible by action of the Senate Education committee after 2 a. m., EST, although as far as the upper branch's clock was concerned, it was still Thursday night.

Upper Communities

Miss Helen Lower, Cynwyd, who has completed her work as a teacher in the schools of Lower Merion, has returned to spend the summer at her home at Table Rock.

Mrs. James Reed, Biglerville, accompanied by her grandsons, Bruce and Donald Nary, spent Thursday in Harrisburg with her sister, Mrs. Effie Nicholas.

Arthur E. Rice, Jr., Biglerville, is attending a reunion of his class at Princeton university over the week-end.

Mr. and Mrs. Wilmer Bream, of Carlisle road, and Mr. and Mrs. Clair Grimm, of Table Rock, were guests of the Lions club of Frederick at a celebration of its 25th anniversary held at Hood college this week.

LEGISLATURE NEAR END OF LONG SESSION

Harrisburg, June 14 (AP)—The Pennsylvania General Assembly, already in session more than five months, headed into the home stretch today with Republican leaders planning a week-end recess to assure final action on pending key legislation.

"We have too many loose ends to clean up," explained Sen. Clarence D. Becker (R-Lebanon), chairman of the Senate Republican caucus. "I don't see how we can possibly adjourn as scheduled. I believe we will have to come back Monday."

The upper branch already has adopted a motion to adjourn finally tonight at 6 p. m., EST, and there was no immediate plan to rescind that.

Asked on the floor about adjournment prospects, Sen. O. J. Tallman, Republican floor leader, said "I am only hopeful the sessions may be adjourned tonight. I will know better when I have a further opportunity to consult with House leaders."

Many Bills Pending
Still pending as the lawmakers gathered for what leaders insisted will be the final official day—even though it may extend into Monday—were these issues:

State regulation of automobile financing companies by the state banking department with limitations on interest rates and other charges in connection with the payments.

A proposal to establish an 18-month moratorium for local posts of nationally recognized veteran organizations outside the state's quota law which now applies to all types of clubs.

Legislation to set up a new interstate turnpike commission to permit cooperation with Indiana, Ohio and West Virginia in the extension of Pennsylvania's toll road westward through Indiana.

State Aid For Nurses

Establish state regulation for anthracite strip mining operations similar to those imposed on soft coal open pit miners, requiring operators to obtain permits and post a bond of $200 an acre.

Authorize state aid for public school nurses and permit needy parents to apply for public assistance to pay for medical or dental care for afflicted school children as part of the administration's follow-up program for the state's school health examinations.

Measures to permit Philadelphia and Pittsburgh school boards to collect a personal property and mercantile tax for schools and Pittsburgh a $1 to $5 per capita levy. Subject of such controversy between lawmakers from the two cities, agreement on the levies permitted dropping of a plan to place the two districts in separate classifications. Both are class one now.

UN Stalled On Atom And Armament Issues

Lake Success, June 14 (AP)—The United Nations was stalled today on two major international problems—control of atomic energy and reduction of world armaments—and two U.N. commissions investigating trouble spots—Palestine and the Balkans—also hit snags.

The Arab higher committee for Palestine formally notified Secretary-General Trygve Lie that it intended to boycott the Holy Land inquiry which is scheduled to get under way Monday. In Cairo, Emil Sandstrom of Sweden, chairman of the Palestine investigation commission, said he regretted the decision.

"The Palestine Arabs' viewpoint would have been very useful to us and would also have been to their advantage," he said.

Yugoslav Ambassador Sava N. Kocanovic charged in another letter to Lie that the conduct of Mark F. Elbridge, American member of the Balkan investigating commission, had "imperilled" the work of that group and "the authority of the United States."

Altoona, Pa., June 14 (AP)—Eye stinging fumes from burning film sifted through Altoona's business section during a blaze in a fire-proof record room of a Pennsylvania railroad test plant yesterday. Loss was slight and officials said permanent records had been obtained from the film destroyed. Cause of the fire was believed to be spontaneous combustion.

Stevens' Day

had a 30-foot water wheel to generate power, park employees constructed a six-step cascade over which the water tumbles approximately 35 feet and flows back into the main channel.

Tom Norris, who talks interestingly about Thaddeus Stevens and his industrial activities at Caledonia, delights in pointing out the stonework in the basin of the cascade. The stonework, Tom says, is the original construction erected by Stevens for the basin of the huge water wheel formerly located at the spot.

In the flat land near the cascade basin, the foundation of a building formerly housing one of the active iron ore processing plants still stands intact. It was in that location that Stevens erected his forge, drop hammers, furnaces, blacksmith shop, and workers' houses—all of which were burned to the ground in 1863 by the invading Confederates.

Original Logs There

After the supply of ore in the Caledonia area became exhausted, a brief experiment was conducted in the Caledonia area in grinding the native quartz rock for use in pottery production.

One-tenth of the flow of the Conococheague creek is diverted into the long-abandoned race at a point approximately a quarter mile from the cascade. A log dam, originally built by Stevens, underwent minor repairs during the past Fall and is once again fulfilling its original purpose—diverting water into the race. The dam, which stretches across the Conococheague to create just another of the park's scenic eye-atchers, has logs in the breast that were originally laid by Stevens, according to Mr. Norris.

As the water enters the race bed it expands into a peaceful, small lake that at places reaches a depth of eight feet. The water then follows the bed of the race, directly adjacent to the popular park path, "The Lambies," until it reaches the cascade.

Better for Fish

Mr. Norris, admitting that the cascade will probably be most appreciated for the beauty it adds to the park, called attention to the fact that it also will make the Conococheague a better "home" for fish. In unbingling over the stone and concrete cascade, the water becomes aerated and consequently betters conditions for fish in the stream.

In addition to the many scenic spots that attract visitors to the park, Mr. Norris pointed out that the picnic facilities provided there

Eastern League

(By The Associated Press)
The Utica Blue Sox boasted a record of 15 victories in their last 17 games today after adding two to the expense of the Williamsport Tigers.

The Sox strengthened their hold on the Eastern league lead last night in downing the Pennsylvanians, 7-2 and 10-6.

Elsewhere, Albany copped two games from Scranton, 6-4, and 3-0; Elmira pounded out a two-ply win over Binghamton, 3-1 and 17-8, and second-place Wilkes-Barre rallied to defeat Hartford, 5-3.

CARDS SHUTOUT BUMS; GIANTS SECURE COOPER

By JACK HAND
(Associated Press Sports Writer)

One by one the groggy St. Louis Cardinals are dragging themselves off the floor and shaking the cobwebs out of their brains.

Harry (the cat) Brecheen and Enos Slaughter never went down but the others have been rocking back on their heels since mid-April. The latest to recover is George (Red) Mungler who has bounced back from a wobbly start to hobnob with the pitching leaders.

Manager Eddie Dyer must have been doubly shocked by Mungler's failure for last fall, during the world series, he openly stated that he expected the red-haired young Giant to be a 20-game winner in 1947.

Red won his first start on the second day of the season but he couldn't get home first again until May 23, that May 23 win was a good one, a 2-0 shutout over Pittsburgh and he hasn't been beaten since. Last night he had a 3-0 whitewash job against the Brooklyn Dodgers, who still are regarded by the Red Birds as "the team to beat." Before the game Owner Sam Breadon had assured the players the club would not be sold and Manager Eddie Dyer would not be fired.

Announce Trade

The New York Giants were idle but the league leaders contributed the biggest news of the day, a pitcher swap with Boston by which Bill Voiselle and an unannounced sum of cash went to the Braves for Mort Cooper. Thus the old Cooper brothers battery, Mort and Walker, was re-united. Neither Voiselle, who has been in manager Mel Ott's doghouse, nor Cooper, who has had arm trouble, have been effective this season.

The Braves' Red Barrett, like Mungler recovering from early difficulties, backed up his fifth straight win, throttling Pittsburgh, 6-2, in the opener on Boston's second western tour. The result, and Brooklyn's night loss, moved Billy Southworth's men into third place.

Cubs Slip Phils

Chicago elbowed into second place, a half game back of the Giants, by a 4-3 edge over Philadelphia.

With Detroit's night game in Washington rained out, the New York Yankees blew a chance to close in on the American league leaders when they bowed to the St. Louis Browns, 4-3, in 10 innings at the Yankee stadium.

Boston's Red Sox dedicated their new lighting system with a 5-3 victory over Chicago before a capacity crowd of 34,510.

Bobby Feller took over the strike-out lead with 87 and posted his eighth win but required relief help from Ed Klemm in pitching Cleveland to a 5-4 night game decision over Philadelphia.

BALLOTING FOR ALLSTAR LINEUP

Chicago, June 14 (P)—With nearly two weeks of balloting left before the midnight deadline June 26, the New York Yankees, Cleveland Indians and Detroit Tigers each had two front-runners in the All-Star baseball poll for American league starters.

In selections by fans at 193 centers, the New York Giants and Philadelphia Phils also had two men as first choices for the National league starting lineup come game time July 8 in Wrigley Field.

The Yankee selections were George McQuinn at first base and Joe DiMaggio in center field. For Cleveland, Joe Gordon topped the votes at second base and manager-player Lou Boudreau at shortstop. Detroit's best representatives were George Kell, third base, and Pat Mullin, right field.

Leading the national league selections for first base and catcher were the Giants' Johnny Mize and Walker Cooper, respectively. Emil Verban of Philadelphia topped the second base selections and his teammate, Harry Walker, led the center fielders.

Enos Slaughter of the world champion St. Louis Cardinals continued as the leading individual vote-getter in the National league after the first week of balloting. He topped his left field rivals with 27-128. Mize is second highest on the nominations with 26,942.

Ted Williams of the Boston Red Sox and Joe DiMaggio remained the biggest favorites in the entire poll. Williams has been named on 34,337 ballots for left field and DiMaggio on 32,644.

COL. WINN IN HOSPITAL

Chicago, June 14 (P)—Col. Matt J. Winn, 85 year old nationally known turfman and Kentucky Derby impresario since 1902, was in St. Luke's hospital today suffering, said a physician, from "possible early pneumonia."

Attendants at the hospital said this morning that Winn, who was removed to the hospital from his Drake hotel residence yesterday in an ambulance, was "resting comfortably."

Tomasie Blanks Allentown Cards

(By The Associated Press)
"Handy Andy" Tomasie, of the Trenton Giants, had a five and nothing pitching record today, the "five" representing Interstate league wins, after goose-egging the league leading Allentown Cardinals 12 to 0 on two scattered hits.

Last night's win was the 13th in 16 starts for the Giants, currently the hottest team in the circuit. Tomasie fanned 17 men to run his season's strikeout total to 80.

In other games the York White Roses defeated the Harrisburg Senators 10 to 3 and the Sunbury Yankees and Hagerstown Owls battled to a 2 to 2 tie before being halted by rain at the end of six innings. The Wilmington at Lancaster game was postponed because of rain.

York's win was the third straight for the White Roses. Ronnie Cook turned back the Senators with five hits, one of which was a home run smack by Whitey Greifzu.

Sports Roundup

By HUGH FULLERTON, JR.

New York, June 14 (P)—Since taking the British Women's Golf title, Babe Didrikson Zaharias has a chance to score a "grand slam" almost as impressive as Bobby Jones' by hurrying a little, she can return in time for the second National Women's Open Tourney at Greensboro, N. C., June 26-29, and she likely will defend her United States amateur title at Detroit in September.

The last time Babe was beaten in a golf tournament was in the Women's Open at Spokane last August.

British writers who have been comparing Mrs. Zaharias with Joyce Wethered, another golfer who hit a ball "like a man" and turned in strictly masculine scores, may be consoled by recalling that Joyce won the British women's title four times and was runner-up once, took the English Ladies' Championship five times in a row and soundly trounced a lot of American girls when she visited this country.

FATHER'S DAY

A Michigan State U. athlete was consulting the dean recently about dropping a course from which he had taken too many cuts. The athlete explained: "While my wife was having our second baby, I had to stay at home to care for our other child. I missed so much work that I'd like to drop the course."

SHORTS AND SHELLS

Louisiana State's Bernie Moore and Clyde Littlefield of Texas are being mentioned as possible coaches of the 1948 Olympic track team. The Hialeah horse racing strip has been planted in cow-pas this summer and Everett Clay figures the gardeners soon will be picking vegetables instead of winners.

After a look at the photo, no doubt, Prexy Frank Lane's speed-up program has clipped 12 minutes off the average time of American Association ball games. That's about the time required to get a hot dog from the average grandstand vendor.

Ben Hogan has been driving with his brassie in the Open Golf Tourney because he never has found a satisfactory replacement for the driver he busted in Miami.

Wonder how about a replacement for Smiley Quick's putter?

GIANTS TRADE VOISELLE FOR MORT COOPER

By RALPH RODEN

New York, June 14 (P)—Morton Cooper, mainstay of three St. Louis Cardinal pennant winning teams, was back with a first place club today—the National league's front-running New York Giants.

The big righthander, who starred with the Redbird champions of 1942-43-44 and the circuit's most valuable player in 1942, was obtained by the Giants yesterday from the Boston Braves in a deal that sent Pitcher Bill Voiselle and cash to Boston.

Currently leading the circuit by a half game, the surprising Giants have been looking for a route-going righthander all season as Rookie Bill Ayers and Voiselle have failed to come through while Larry Jansen has been erratic. The brunt of the righthanded mound chores so far has been borne by Clint Hartung, reconverted outfielder, and relief specialist Ken Trinkle.

To Pitch To Brother

Cooper has been plagued by arm trouble since 1945 and hasn't been of much use to the Braves this season.

He has a record of two wins as against five setbacks.

Although the veteran hurler had the same trouble last year and didn't look like the Cooper of old until late in the campaign, the Giants are gambling that he regains his old effectiveness.

Then again, with the Giants, Mort will be pitching to his Brother Walker who was behind the plate during his pennant-winning years with St. Louis.

Walker was purchased January 5, 1946 while still in the navy from the Cards for $175,000—one of the highest straight cash deals in major league history.

ST. LOUIS MATCH IN FINAL ROUND

By JERRY LISKA

St. Louis, Mo., June 14 (P)—The most unpredictable of modern National Open Golf championships today went into its final 36-hole round with Kansas farmer Dick Metz and Michigan's Chick Harbert sharing a leadership threatened by no fewer than 10 title-hungry rivals among the 75 wind-up contenders.

It made little difference that Metz, who also operates out of Chicago, and Harbert, from Northville, Mich., claimed a share of the 72-hole meet's halfway record with three-under-par 139's.

The pace-setting duo held only a one-stroke margin over slim Lew Worsham, from Oakmont, Pa., and were but four strokes ahead of the 11th and 12th title prospects, Ed (Porky) Oliver, Wilmington, Del., veteran, and little-known Alfred L. Smith of Danville, Va.

Sandwiched between were top amateur Marvin (Bud) Ward of Spokane, Wash., Henry Ransom, transplanted Texan from Ravinia, Ill., and big Jim Ferrier of Chicago, deadlocked at 141; and a quartet of 142 shooters — pre-meet favorite Bobby Locke of South Africa, Sammy Sneed of Hot Springs, Va., Harry Todd of Dallas, Tex., and Johnny Palmer of Badin, N. C.

The St. Louis country club has a 72-hole par of 284, three strokes over Ralph Guldahl's 1938 open record of 281.

Not one of the dozen championship possibilities in the $10,000 meet which pays $2,000 to the top professional ever has won an open title, although Metz, who went over par just once in compiling 69-70 rounds, was runner-up to Guldahl in the 1938 renewal.

Hectic Journey

On the other hand, Sen. John H. Dent, minority floor leader, asserted "this bill does not do what it is supposed to do. I don't believe the teachers will be satisfied; they felt they were going to receive a minimum salary somewhere around $2,500."

Calling the measure which he and only three colleagues voted against "a patchwork job," Dent said "there must be equalization of standards both in the payment of teachers' salaries and the education of our children."

Originating as the salary plan of the Pennsylvania State Education Association with a starting salary of $2,400 and a top of $5,400, the so-called House bill 417 has had hectic journey through the Legislature.

Today's Talk

THE POWER OF SILENCE

The silent man is the one to watch and even emulate. He is usually a thinker and a man of latent power. Marshal Field, who founded the great store in Chicago that bears his name, was known as a man of few words.

The late Henry Ford never gave a public talk that lasted more than a few minutes. The elder J. P. Morgan was also a man of few words—but when, in an emergency, he spoke people listened. This was true of Thomas A. Edison and a host of other great leaders. Words coming out of silence have meaning and portent.

It always takes two to make an argument or a bitter discussion. If one of them refuses to talk the argument or dispute is liable to end then and there. Silence is a powerful weapon to use when unjustly accused. Character is the most possible silent testimony possible.

The silent night is medicine to the nerves, the mind, and to the spirit. Lovers of Nature seek the silence of the sea-shore, the mountains, and the forest. There is no better way to gain one's even keel than to get away from all noise and crowds, and seek the silence of the wide open spaces.

Friends who understand each other need very few words to express their mutual appreciation.
Just to be near one who is beloved is both entertainment and joyous contact. The late William Allen White, whom I knew very well over a long period, was not a talkative man, but what a writer he was when left alone in silence to put his words into readable form! Few public men of this time had such a clear and powerful vocabulary. But he was noticeably a great listener when in a group.

Filate, who interviewed Jesus, could not get him into an argument.
Jesus stood in silence and "answered not a word." Gen. U. S. Grant was known as "the silent President." Even when Gen. Lee surrendered to him at Appomattox, few words passed between the two, for both were great men—and both Americans. It took very little time for both to come to a peaceful understanding. Gen. Grant's most famous words were "Let us have peace!"

FLAG DAY

Our flag! The flag of all who seek Justice and freedom for the weak!
Flag of the best which men have thought,
For which our bravest best have fought,
No tyrant might shall drag thee
down,
No whispering voice stain thy renown.

Flag in the blood of heroes signed.
Banner of hope for all mankind,
Riding the winds on land and sea,
Bright emblem of man's liberty,
No tyrant code, no cunning sky!
Shall ever tear thee from the sky!

Our flag! The flag of all that's best;
Hope of the weary and distressed;
Staffed at all altars where we pray;
Flag of the grounds where children play.
Our flag, and theirs who would be free,
Never shall shame dishonor thee.

Time To Re-check

I've said it before and I'll keep on saying it as long as it continues to be important to car maintenance—re-check that lubrication chart you are using for your car!
It may overlook something. Every now and again an owner finds that there is an oil cup for lubricating the clutch throwout bearing on his car even though most cars have the oilless type. A friend of mine with 25,000 miles on the odometer just discovered that the rear wheel bearings need lubricant. On his car the first step is to remove the plugs on the axle housing. Then a grease nipple is inserted, and only short fibre wheel bearing lube is used.
The chart he had been following did not mention these plugs, and of course with many of his friends telling him that rear wheel bearings are permanently lubricated on many cars he naturally felt on safe ground.

Pitfall In Testing

It has become so common to take a compression test of engines many motorists borrow the tester from their neighborhood mechanic and promptly go haywire misusing it. Main fault lies in assuming that the engine needs a quick ring job if compression is low or if it varies widely between the various cylinders. If compression reads normal, all well and good; but if it is low then the next step is to put some oil into the cylinders and repeat the testing. The oil temporarily seals the rings. If compression isn't greatly improved you're right in deciding that the valves are badly in need of major servicing.

Something New In Safety

Way back at the end of World War I a friend and I were hard at work on an automotive safety device which would warn that a car is starting to slow down. We threw out the now commonly used stoplight system because it operated from the brake pedal, arguing that when a driver has started to use the brakes the man behind is getting a too late warning in many cases. Our effort was centered on use of a pendulum and switch, but the mechanism was troublesome.
Now after all these years a California company has come forth with a device that probably will revolutionize rear signaling. It operates on engine vacuum. The instant you take your foot off the accelerator pedal the rear signal flashes "slow."
Cleverly, however, the device does not function when the throttle is closed during gear shifting. Congratulations to its sponsors for hitting on the answer to a long felt want.

Mechanic Joe Speaking

"When the crankcase collects a lot of dilution most motorists suspect that gasoline is leaking into the pan in some mysterious manner.
This usually leads to a conviction that the rings need replacing. For some strange reason few ever consider the crankcase ventilation system."

"Unless vapors are sucked out of the case there will be excessive condensation and dilution. There may also be foaming of the oil, for if the vents are clogged with oil and dirt pressure will build up inside the case. Those crankcase vents are no mere frills. They should be kept clean. Incidentally, crankcase ventilation works better at road speed, so don't keep your car tied down to town too much."

Problem In Balancing

A number of owners of new cars have been surprised to find that they have not been able to have their wheels and tires balanced because of various changes in rims and wheel trim. The situation has been corrected to some extent by the car makers, but much still remains to be done before tires can have balance protection. Leading difficulty has been use of extra large hub caps and wheel rings. There hasn't been room for the balance weights. On several makes the rims have not been quite wide enough. Efforts to attach weights have resulted merely in having them fly off again. This can be corrected by installing wider rims. Weights usually cannot be attached to the car side of the wheels because of the brake drums.

Always Something New

Traveling always is an eye-opener, but I ran into a new one the other day when watching an owner apply the filling station's air hose to a small chrome covered knob which protruded from the car's body just to one side of the luggage compartment cover. Perhaps you have guessed that this was my introduction to the new remote spare tire inflator. The whole job is done from the outside without the usual bother of lifting the lid and moving luggage. The hole in the body is very small and the inflator cap is an actual addition to the car's appearance. Four feet of hose come with the device.

Keep Them In Mind

One efficient test for the battery is to have a mechanic discharge it. If the battery is discharged at the rate of 300 amperes for five seconds, for example, the voltage should not drop below 4.5. That is, if the battery is in good condition.

Better results can be had when relining brakes, where it has not been possible to resurface the drums, by merely chamfering the edges of the lining. Use a file for this. A 1/32ndinch chamfer is sufficient to give smoother operation.

How Much A Pound?

When you consider what a pound of grade A beefsteak costs your new car isn't out of line. In fact it is a lot cheaper than common items of the dinner table. One of the popular makes is selling for fifty cents the pound, and if you'll get out pencil and paper you'll find that even the fancy merchandise from Detroit isn't over seventy-five cents. To get the pound weight just find out the delivered price of your car and the total weight. You'll find some interesting comparisons if you're shopping for cars on this basis.

Those of you who give up easily when trouble knocks should have a chance to read my mail and know just how some people extricate themselves from difficulty. One chap cranked his car by removing a rear tire, wrapping a rope around the fellow band of the wheel and then pulling on the loose end of the rope with the car in gear and ignition on. Another couldn't get enough juice from the battery for a start so took out several spark plugs, started the motor because of the greatly reduced compression, and ran it for ten minutes until the battery was strong enough to charge with all the plugs in place.

I don't recommend any of these tricks, because they have their dangers. But maybe they will help you avoid that hopeless feeling when the car threatens to quit.

Asking About Cars

Q. What's wrong when the speedometer doesn't register at all? It indicates a little if the engine back-fires. H. L.

A. Probably the cable has come loose from the speedometer head.
Or the cable may be broken. Anything that jars the speedometer head will cause the pointer to swing away from zero.

Q. I had the brakes relined on a recent trip but this has not stopped the car from pulling to the left when I slow down. The left front drum is not warped or scored. A new retail has been installed and the left front bearing replaced and re-packed. J. H. K.

A. A worn left king pin would do this; also a loose brake backing plate. Perhaps the primary and secondary shoes have been reversed.
Check the brake line to the right front wheel. If crimped or clogged oil pressure will then go to the left front brake and cause it to pull.

Q. In backing up I hear a pronounced click in the rear of my car.
Several motorists have said it is nothing to worry about but they do not seem to know just what causes it. Can you offer an explanation? A. J.

A. This sounds like a slightly loose rear wheel. Remember that the rear wheels fit on tapered axle ends and that when loose they still are so tight you can remove them without a wheel puller. I wouldn't worry about this one. Have the wheel tightened next time you're in a shop.

Q. I don't seem to get very good control going down hill with my car. Would the fluid clutch account for this? I seem to have to use the brakes too much. The engine skips a bit when running slowly in high. W. M. L.

A. Apparently the engine's com-

URGE BUILDING AT 22 MENTAL HOSPITALS SOON

Harrisburg, June 14 (AP)—A committee of the General Assembly urged new construction at Pennsylvania's 22 mental hospitals "at the earliest feasible time" in line with Gov. James H. Duff's $80,000,000 expansion program.

The legislators, who inspected the institutions during the current session, reported that the institutions "without exception are greatly overcrowded," and said:

"The need for new construction is apparent and should be taken care of at the earliest feasible time."

Ask Better Staff
The committee, headed by Chairman Jacob W. Carr (R-Butler) of the Senate Welfare committee, and Chairman Furman H. Gyger (R-Chester) of the House group, told the Legislature in their report, submitted Thurs. night, there is insufficient bed space for the 42,399 patients in the 22 hospitals.

"However," said the report, "this is not the worst feature of overcrowding since in every institution there seems to be a dire need of day rooms where patients for about 16 hours each day are crowded into entirely inadequate rooms."

In specific recommendations the committee urged that "adequate and competent personnel should be obtained at the earliest possible time available" with increased compensation where recommended by the management.

Urge Segregation
Segregation of patients with communicable diseases was recommended, particularly in respect to tuberculosis.

State, school authorities, hospital and other public welfare organizations, the report said, should consider a system of closer co-operation "to the end that discovery of mental illness may be made at the earliest possible time."

"Insufficient attention seems to have been given heretofore to clinical investigation and discovery of new cases before they reached the incurable stage or the stage requiring long periods of time for cure."

Approve Commission To Study Tax System

Harrisburg, June 14 (AP)—The general assembly sent to Governor James H. Duff with its approval today a $1,000,000 program to seal abandoned coal mines as part of Pennsylvania's stream cleanup campaign.

The bill would authorize the state to require operations to close abandoned mines to guard against acid mine drainage and provide commonwealth help to finance the work with the appropriation made.

The assembly also sent to the executive measures to increase salaries of members of the State Athletic commission from $5,000 to $5,500 a year and that of the chairman of the State Board of Censors from $4,800 to $5,500.

Creation of a seven-member state tax commission was approved under another bill passed finally to make "a thorough study" of the commonwealth's tax system and that of local governments, financed by a $100,000 appropriation.

ASSEMBLY WILL GIVE FINAL OK ON LABOR BILLS

Harrisburg, June 14 (AP)—The General Assembly poised itself today for final passage of a labor program which Republican leaders claim would not curtail collective bargaining powers of unions.

Ready for a vote in both the House and Senate were conference agreements on bills — all with administration support — to bar strikes by public employees, prohibit jobless benefits to strikers and require equal pay for women.

Another Senate-passed measure, banning jurisdictional disputes and secondary boycotts, also faced a vote in the lower branch.

Agreement Reached
Agreement on the three bills comprising the administration program came last night after day-long conferences on disposition of Senate amendments.

Behind-the-scenes opposition was expressed among House members, however, on the conference agreement of legislation sponsored by Rep. Jeannette Dye (R-Mercer) providing equal pay for equal work by women.

One legislator who declined quotation by name, objected to a Senate revision which the conference committee retained to exempt the equal pay provision when agreements to the contrary are reached between an employer and union or with individuals if they are not members of a labor organization.

Three-Member Panel
At the same time, the conferees struck out an upper chamber amendment which would have exempted all employees except those "knowingly and willfully" disregarding the prohibition against pay discrimination.

A $200 daily fine for violations remained in the bill.

Speedy approval in both branches was anticipated, however, on a Senate arbitration plan for handling grievances of public employees, including school teachers.

It would set up a three-member panel to hear complaints of employees and the public agency, with authority granted the governor to remedy complaints or ask for corrective legislation if necessary.

The conference group on jobless benefits inserted a provision in the bill to limit the ban on benefits only to those members of labor organizations participating in or directly interested in the outcome of any strike.

Hank Behrman Is Returned To Dodgers

Pittsburgh, June 14 (AP)—The Pittsburgh Pirates have returned pitcher Hank Behrman to the Brooklyn Dodgers for a refund not announced but estimated at $50,000.

Pirate General Manager Roy Hamey said Behrman's return was under an agreement made at the time of a deal. The pitcher was part of the "prize package" of five players the Pirates obtained from the Dodgers for a reputed $200,000.

The "package" also included hurlers Kirby Higbe and Cal McLish, infielder Gene Mauch and catcher Hommer Howell. McLish was sent to Albany under option. The other three players remain with the Bucs.

Behrman appeared in 10 Pirate games, pitching 24½ innings, allowing 33 hits and 17 walks. He was charged with two losses against no wins.

RED PATTERN IS SEEN AGAIN IN BULGARIA

By GLENN BABB
(AP Foreign News Analyst)

The Communist program in Europe appears to be developing along two principal lines. East of the ideological front that splits the continent, movements are afoot to complete destruction of what little opposition has been permitted to survive. West of the line there is a drive to splinter the parties adjacent to the Communists in the political spectrum and to draw from them segments of sufficient size to give the Reds the dominance they now approach but have not yet achieved.

Bulgaria furnishes the latest example of the eastern campaign. The Communist-dominated National Assembly has expelled 23 Agrarian members, followers of Nikola Petkov, now in jail charged with plotting against the regime. These 23 formed the hard core of the united opposition. According to the law they must be replaced by 23 men of the same party in last October's election. But even if the letter of the law is honored, it is easy to believe that the 23 new Agrarians will not be unacceptable to the fatherland from government.

Thus the pattern followed in Hungary is seen again. There the Communists have managed to split and effectively destroy the Smallholders party which stood in their way. In Bulgaria the same fate seems in store for the Petkov Agrarians, who held 86 seats out of a total opposition of about 100 (in a House of 465 members). The difference is that in Hungary it was a ruling, majority party that was swept aside; in Bulgaria it was a relatively weak minority. The revolution already had proceeded much further in Bulgaria.

That was natural. Bulgaria lay much closer to the center of Communist power. It had a racial affinity to Russia. And it has been taken over by perhaps the most experienced and able of Moscow's procurators, old Georgi Dimitroff himself, onetime secretary general of the Third International. Bulgaria has become a show model of Communist methods. The country has been as neatly regimented along Soviet lines as any outside the Soviet Union itself.

There have been many signs that this purge was coming. None of the three chief opposition papers has been publishing since early May. The Agrarian organ ceased publication May 7 because of conflict between the editorial and mechanical staffs, an indication of Communist domination of labor organizations. In Parliament government leaders, including Dimitroff himself, long have been threatening suppression of the opposition as "traitors," "foreign agents" or "international reactionaries."

Wife Collapses As Jury Frees Husband

Pittsburgh, June 14 (AP)—Frank Super, 32-year-old steelworker, acquitted of a felonious assault charge in the maiming of his wife still awaits action on a surety of the peace indictment growing out of a March 14 shooting.

Mrs. Florence Super, 31, mother of Super's three small children, collapsed on hearing a jury pronounce her husband innocent yesterday and sobbed.

"He walks out of here a free man while I am crippled for life with three babies to take care of," Mrs. Super's right leg was amputated after a shotgun blast struck her in her Penn township home. She had testified she was shot while fleeing the house after a quarrel. Super, however, denied quarreling and said the gun was fired accidentally.

TRUMAN WOULD KEEP CONTROLS ON TIME BUYING

By JAMES MARLOW
Washington, June 14 (AP)—You want to buy something on time? Now the government lays down the rules on how you do it.

For example: On things like autos and refrigerators you must pay one-third of the value down and the balance within 15 months.

There's a chance the controls may be removed altogether. Should they be? President Truman says no. He argues this way:

Goods still are not plentiful enough to meet full demand. Even so, installment buying is increasing. And the more that kind of buying increases, with goods still not plentiful, the more the tendency for prices to rise. He wants prices kept down.

Opposition Argument

The opposite argument comes from Rep. Wolcott, Michigan Republican and chairman of the house banking committee:

The controls work against those people who haven't been able to save enough money to make a fair-size down payment. For example: Now a man who wants a $1,500 auto must pay one-third down, $500, and the rest in 15 months. But a man who hasn't saved $500 still could buy a car if the down payment were smaller and the time for the balance was longer than 15 months.

In 1940, before the controls, total consumer credit was $9,153,000,000. In 1946, with the controls in effect, it was $9,958,000,000.

President Roosevelt, under his wartime powers, imposed the controls in 1941 to control prices a bit. President Truman has continued them.

But should such controls, with the war over two years, be continued by presidential wartime power alone?

Mr. Truman thinks not, even though he wants them continued. This week he asked Congress to continue them by passing a law.

LIST WINNERS IN 4-H CONTESTS

State College, Pa., June 14 (AP)—Pennsylvania's hopes for national honors in Future Farmers of America contests rested today squarely on the shoulders of seven stalwart farm youths.

The seven were selected yesterday after competing with nearly one thousand other youths in contests here at the first Future Farmer of America activity week since 1941.

The new state champions will represent Pennsylvania in regional eliminations leading to the National FFA convention at Kansas City, Mo., in October.

Ralph G. Sanner, of Kutztown, Berks county, won the state crown in public speaking, using as his subject "New Markets for Farm Products Through Chemistry." In his talk, Sanner pointed out that more and more farm products are now being treated chemically and utilized to produce popular articles such as nylon hosiery and other items that were unheard of years ago.

Other winners were: Poultry judging—Robert Cole, Sabinsville, Tioga county; dairy judging—John Bower, Montgomery, Lycoming county; livestock judging—Samuel Wasson, State College, Centre county; agronomy—Charles Reiber, Eastbrook, McKean county; farm mechanics—Nelson Smith, Tannersville, Monroe county; plant insect disease identification and control—Joseph Mittle, Kutztown, Berks county.

Chambersburg, Pa., June 14 (AP)—Nemo, the cantankerous elephant, was on the way today toward becoming just so much tallow. The 25-year-old elephant, traveling with a circus, was disposed of here yesterday after circus officials gave up in despair at Nemo's bad temper.

They said Nemo had lost 100 pounds during the past year and in recent weeks had become ill-natured, making him potentially dangerous. The carcass was sold to a rendering plant.

Crash Safely But Face Takeoff Trouble

Ligonier, Pa., June 14 (AP)—Two vacationing fliers today wondered how they would get their crashed and damaged light plane back into the air after a landing on the grounds of famed Rolling Rock club here which bruised the men, and crumpled the craft's landing gear.

John B. Liddback, of Lisbon Falls, Me., and J. S. Lewis, of Tulsa, Okla., were attempting to land yesterday to examine maps during their Oklahoma to Maine flight when the plane struck a fence post and slammed into the ground.

Previous owners, forced down on the Rolling Rock property, were compelling to dismantle their ships and remove them by truck.

TEACHING YOUR DOG TO "RETRIEVE"

Making Your Dog a Better Citizen

by Tom Farley

Your dog having learned to pick up, carry and give the dumbbell he may now be taught to fetch it. Holding him closely at the heel position as shown (picture 1) toss the dumbbell a few feet away. Then at the command "Fetch", and only then, motion him forward to pick it up (picture 2). If he fails to take it tell him to "Take It" and bring him back to you (picture 3).

Make him sit at the "Rover Come" position before taking the dumbbell from him so that he will learn to offer it in this way (picture 4). If he tends to drop it put your hand under his chin and make him hold it. When he will work the length of the leash toss the dumbbell a greater distance, going with him and then backing up (picture 5) to your original position before letting him present it to you. Only when he shows no signs of falling should the leash be removed (picture 6).

You have now taught your dog the basic commands but making him a really good citizen depends on your making him live up to his training. If you relax he will very soon realize that strict compliance is unnecessary and the training will have been wasted. Watch his diet, to make sure that he receives balanced rations, insist that he live up to his training and show him a little affection and you will have a healthy, happy dog and a good citizen.

This is the last of a series of picture articles on dog training featuring Frances Hartsook, nationally known trainer, photographed and prepared in a campaign to make dogs better citizens. The lessons must be studied from the beginning to be effective. If you missed any of the articles we suggest that you purchase the back issues so that you have the complete series. (P-D Photos).

THE CLEAN-UP

Chapter 24

The bedroom door opened behind Carney, and Smoky and Duffy stepped into the room, guns in hand. They caught Carney's henchmen completely by surprise. Rush stood up.

"Now, take your hired hands and get out of here. Dammit, Carney. Can't you get it through your head that your methods went out with Al Capone? We've smartened up on our side of the street. Now blow and impress it on Junior and his pal there that if they get in my way again I'm going to beat them. I'm tired of stumbling over them everywhere I go, and that includes you. Go on, get out."

Carney nodded his head toward the door and without a word Junior and his friend walked out into the hall. Carney followed them in complete silence.

When the door had closed Rush turned to Gay.

"You were terrific," he said. "It would have been tough if I'd walked in here cold. I'd have had to mass up your apartment to get rid of those termites."

"I was scared," said Gay, "scared to death."

"It was nothing. Just be thankful you have a fire escape that opens on your bedroom window."

Another head popped into the room from the bedroom.

"Can I come in?" asked Robin Twist.

Rush looked around the room. "Well, we're all here but Merwin so we might as well have a brief council."

"Somebody has gone trigger happy in this town. There have been three murders and this afternoon somebody took a pot shot at Covington. The only one of the big three left is Carney and for all his antique ideas of how to be a gangster, he's no fool. He had too good a thing to risk losing it all just to be the only boss. He could have sat still for years and milked a million dollars clear out of this town. So it has to be somebody else."

"And that leaves Mr. X," said Robin.

"It does indeed," said Rush. "I have tried and tried but I can't figure anybody else with a big enough stake in this town to start knocking off the citizens. It's either X or some other unknown quantity who wants to take things over."

"Or maybe both," said Smoky.

Rush turned his head very slowly and looked at Smoky. He looked at him for a long time before he spoke.

"Take a bow, Smoky," he said at last. "I should have thought of that myself. It's a perfect angle. X hires me to come in and clean up the town. Then when it gets around what I'm trying to do, he knocks off the head men in the rackets and I get blamed for it. Then when I leave he takes over where Carney and Sully and Marr left off. Very pretty. A neat scheme. But it won't work."

"I think X miscalculated. I don't think he figured on the election. I've convinced Covington that I can show him how to run a clean town, and I can. I also am going to get Covington elected. After that X is out in the cold."

"But, in the meantime," said Robin.

"That's the rub, Robin," said Rush. "In the meantime he may take another shot at Covington and not miss. He might even get me. So I've got to get X first if I can. That's why I'm going to Chicago. The trail started there so I'll go there to pick it up."

An hour later Rush was in a chartered plane bound for Chicago and five hours later he was in his office lavatory removing the stains of travel.

Sharp at ten o'clock Rush was in the law offices of Leach, Caruthers and Leach, closeted with Aaron Leach. He laid his cards on the table. They were not pretty cards and Aaron Leach was visibly disturbed by them.

"I hope, Mr. Henry," he said, "that it is not in your mind that I am a party to any such conspiracy as you suggest."

"Not at all. I am sure the idea is as distasteful to you as it is to me. However, I am certain in my own mind that you have been used to further just such a conspiracy. A rather vicious thing is happening in Forge City and I want to stop it. I am convinced that the only way I can stop it is by reaching the man you represented in hiring me."

"Till now the men who have been killed have earned it one way or the other. It was part of the way they lived. But now innocent people are in danger and I don't propose to let anything happen to them if I can possibly stop them."

"You realize, of course, that I don't know the name of the man for whom I secured your services. My contract with him was through his lawyer."

"But you know the lawyer. Give me his name. Through him I can find X."

Leach considered the request for a long moment. Finally he shook his head.

"In view of the absolute secrecy that was requested by my correspondent in Forge City, I'm afraid it would be unethical for me to reveal his name on such strictly circumstantial evidence as you have presented. You might be wrong, Mr. Henry."

The older man stood up as though to end the interview. "You are a detective, Mr. Henry, and by all reports a good one. You should be able to devise some means of learning my correspondent's name. After all, he learned mine."

The older man smiled and stepped around his desk to open the door for Rush.

On his way out, Rush ascertained that Leach had graduated from Harvard in 1906.

In the lobby he phoned Pappy Daley at the Express.

"I want a list of names of the graduating class of 1906 from the Harvard Law School and I want all of their present addresses," he said.

PROVIDENCE, R. I.—A postal truck was tagged for illegal parking. Postmaster Raymond A. Creagan hoped police would forget the matter.

"I don't know where we would get the dollar," he protested. "We would have to write to the first assistant."

Police Capt. Earl F. Adams is adamant.

"If the fine isn't paid," he warns, "I'll take action against the truck owner."

The government owns the truck.

FATHER-HEAD MAN

THROUGHOUT HISTORY DAD HAS HAD HIS UPS AND DOWNS...

IN AN ANCIENT CAVE, A FATHER WAS ALL SUPREMACY. IT WAS A DREAM FOR ANY SON TO BE IN HIS HANDS TO APPEAR IN HIS FATHER'S PRESENCE.

DAD WAS HEAD MAN AMONG THE ATHLETES TOO. WHEN A SON WAS OLD ENOUGH TO MARRY HIS FATHER SELECTED HIS WIFE FOR HIM—WITH NO QUESTIONS ASKED—

BUT IN THE MODERN AGE, DAD'S POWER HAS FADING. AFTER BEARING A CHILD, A FATHER MAY RETURN TO HIS SOPE. LEAVING DAD TO LOOK AFTER THE KIDDIES.

AND IN PARTS OF INDIA A FATHER'S LOT IS EVEN WORSE. IF HE GETS INTO DEBT, HIS WIFE CAN SELL HIM INTO SLAVERY TO PAY OFF HIS BILLS.

BUT IN AMERICA DAD RATES HIGH WITH THE WHOLE FAMILY. AND THE FATHER'S DAY GREEN SET HIS GETS ON JUNE 15 WILL TELL HIM JUST THAT "YOU'RE TOPS."

MONDAY, TUESDAY
"The Macomber Affair," a screen adaptation of one of Ernest Hemingway's most dramatic short-stories, bows in at the Majestic theatre on Monday thru United Artists release.

Based on "The Short Happy Life of Francis Macomber," which is regarded as one of the author's most compelling stories, this film contrasts seething emotions and violent hatred against the exciting background of a big game hunt in the heart of the African lion country.

Gregory Peck is cast as a lanky, intrepid hunter who can drop a buffalo at one hundred yards, but falls himself when lovely Joan Bennett draws a bead on him. Robert Preston shares co-starring honors.

WEDNESDAY
The United States Congress is a funny place to neck... but that's where Ginger Rogers and Burgess Meredith kissed for a scene in "Magnificent Doll," a Universal release coming Wednesday to the Majestic theatre.

History records the fact that Dolly Madison, then Dolly Todd, proposed to James Madison right there in the shadow of the Declaration of Independence in the Hall of Congress. They had some privacy, however. There was nobody around but the janitor.

"Magnificent Doll" stars Ginger Rogers, David Niven and Burgess Meredith.

THURSDAY, FRIDAY, SATURDAY

Alexis Smith who is co-starred with Humphrey Bogart and Barbara Stanwyck in "The Two Mrs. Carrolls."

"The Two Mrs. Carrolls," starring Humphrey Bogart, Barbara Stanwyck and Alexis Smith, is the new Warner Bros. film scheduled to start an engagement at the Majestic theatre on Thursday. The picture, a dramatic love story, tells the strange tale of Geoffrey Carroll (Humphrey Bogart), whose love for two women who feared his love eventually, involved him in a series of bizarre and frightening situations.

Based on the Martin Vale stage success of the same name, the picture presents Bogart as an American artist, living in England. While vacationing in Scotland he meets and falls in love with Sally Morton (Barbara Stanwyck). When Sally decides that he is married, Geoffrey quickly explains that his wife is an invalid, and that he is planning to get a divorce.
